

CLANDESTINE SERVICES REVIEW NO. 23

5 - 16 January 1959

25X1A

(Room 153, [REDACTED])

OBJECTIVES: To provide familiarization with (1) the Clandestine Services' functional structure; current missions; planning, approval, and reviewing systems; operational programs, problems, and trends; and mechanisms for coordinating with other government entities; and (2) other Agency offices and their relationships to the Clandestine Services and, where relevant, to the intelligence community. Emphasis will be on Headquarters processes and the application of these processes to operations.

The discussion, where possible, will be directed to the branch level and specifically to the desk officer who has returned from the field. To these ends, presentations throughout the course will emphasize the functional processes but will include relevant organizational aspects.

READING MATERIAL: a) specific regulations governing the topics listed in the program (or papers relating to these topics), together with b) a limited number of general summaries. These materials are collected in notebooks for each member of the Review. These notebooks have a complete index.
